BLIZZARD DEATH TOLL MOUNTS

Three-Fourths Of Nation East Of Rockies Feels Force Of Storm; Snow In Florida

By UNITED PRESS

A bitter cold wave, intensified by raging gales and heavy snows, spread across the country to the Atlantic seaboard and the Gulf of Mexico today as winter made its most severe onslaught of the year.

Three quarters of the nation east of the Rockies was covered by snow or ice. In northern Michigan, buried beneath drifts 20 to 30 feet high, the worst blizzard in 40 years was abating but in its wake left families marooned in snowbound homes, isolated villages and paralyzed traffic.

The storm dipped into the deep south, brought snow in central Florida and freezing temperatures in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, and Florida.

In Illinois and Wisconsin, floods continued to harass lowland residents, despite near-zero temperatures.

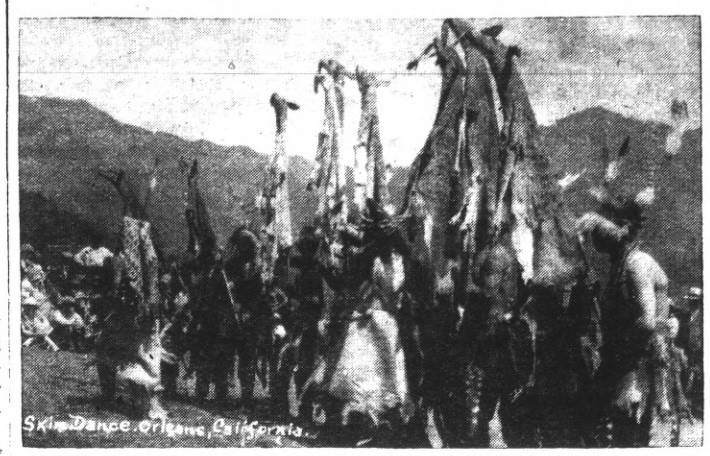

The floods and blizzard caused at least 10 deaths, four in Illinois, three in Indiana, two in Michigan and one in South Dakota.

U. S. Weather Forecaster J. R. Lloyd forecast continued snow in Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York. He predicted no relief for the rest of the country but said clear weather was probable in the middlewest for several days—with the exception of Michigan.

Only the far west and New England escaped freezing temperatures.

MISSION VISITED BY SANTA CLAUS

Car Load Of Gifts Made Quarters Of Priest Appear As Large Department Store

"In November, Massachusetts, Western New York, Ohio, Minnesota and our own state were sending in their boxes and packages and a week before Christmas our Mission House looked like a big department store in a metropolitan center," declares Father John Barrett, formerly priest-in-charge at the Church of Our Saviour, in Placerville, and now with Mrs. Barrett at the Episcopal Indian Mission of the Holy Spirit, at Orleans, Humboldt County.

"Anyhow," adds Lion Barrett, in a letter to a fellow-member of the Placerville den, "no such collection of clothes, toys and useful gadgets was ever seen in this frontier like that. So you can imagine the kind of a Christmas that we at the mission had."

Rev. Barrett reports he has suggested to members of the Lions club that some of them arrange to visit the mission sometime next Spring, when the country round about will be in its glory again.

He suggests a luncheon, a real Lions club meeting, with Mrs. Barrett serving the dinner, and a demonstration by the club members as to what may be accomplished in the development of a district by a community effort.

"Bear, deer and panther abound," the letter continues. "It is a fisherman's paradise. The valley with its towering mountains and heavily wooded forests and its raging Klamath River and numerous creeks and lakes alive with fish has never been commercially exploited and on this account is little heard of from the outside world. But it will be.

"The mission work is moving along fine and we are having a grand old time. Here is wishing you a bright and prosperous 1938 and greetings to all the rough necks in the Lions club."

15 AUTO DEATHS FOR 2 YEARS

Summary Shows September Fatalities Lead All Other Months; 79 Accidents

A two-year summary of deaths and accidents on the highways of the county has been compiled by Captain E. A. Brewster, of the El Dorado County Squad of the State Highway Patrol.

In addition to listing fifteen deaths and seventy-nine accidents in the county in the two-year period, the summary also affords a basis for study and reflection upon the relation of the patrol to highway fatalities and auto wrecks.

Although May, June, July and August are considered the peak months for travel through the county;—so much so that no vacations are scheduled by the patrol members during those months, records show that more deaths occur in September, when traffic would be presumed to be falling off.

The summary discloses that during the two-year period there were, in September, five accidents which resulted in four deaths.

Only one death is recorded in an accident during the two-year period on a patrolled highway when an officer was on duty.

However, there were eight fatalities recorded on roads in the county which the Highway Patrol does not patrol. And there were six deaths on highways which the officers patrol, but these came at a time when no officers were on duty.

Seven deaths came between 6 p. m. and 12 o'clock midnight and, during the hours from midnight to 9 o'clock in the morning, when no officers are on patrol, there were four deaths and 14 accidents.

The number of deaths during May, June, July and August for the two-year period (covering the months of expected heaviest travel) totaled four, and this was the number of deaths recorded in the month of September alone.

COLOMA WILL FETE GOLD DISCOVERY

"Wear Costumes, It Adds To The Interest" Committee In Charge Suggests

The county's celebration of the ninetieth anniversary of the discovery of gold at Coloma on January 24, 1848 by James W. Marshall, will be held Saturday night at the Community Hall at Coloma in the Gold Discovery Dance.

In response to inquiries from a number of interested parties, we inquired of the committee in charge on Wednesday evening as to whether the event is to be a "'49er costume dance."

"Wear costumes if you would like to, it adds to the interest in the occasion," a spokesman for the committee replied.

The spokesman said it was expected that many would attend in costume, but that as far as is known there are no plans at this time for any award of prizes for costumes.

Music for old-time as well as modern dancing will be provided and the ladies of Coloma are being joined by the ladies of Lotus and Gold Hill in their preparations for the dance supper.

254 Have Part-Time Jobs And Want More Work, Survey On Unemployment Reveals

The ratio of unemployed to the total population of El Dorado County appears larger than is warranted by the actual facts in the recent Federal Unemployment Census of 1937, since the county is credited only with a population based on the 1930 census.

This is apparent in a copy of the census report for the entire nation, received this week from the director of the Unemployment Census. The survey was conducted by post card during November.

However, El Dorado County loses nothing in comparison with other counties of the state, or in comparison with other counties of other states, for in the county break-down of the figures, the 1930 population census figures are used throughout.

In Table I of the report, "Persons who registered in the unemployment census as totally unemployed or working on emergency work, by states, the population of California is estimated as of July 1, 1937, to have been 6,154,000. This table is not broken down to the county figures.

It shows, however, that in the state there were 258,005 unemployed of both sexes of which 182,466 were male and 75,539 were female who were totally unemployed and wanting work. There were 91,005 of both sexes working at WPA, CCC or other emergency work, 68,674 men and 22,381 women. The ratio of totally unemployed to the total estimated population was 4.2 per cent and of emergency employed workers 1.5 per cent.

Table 2 of the report, "Persons who registered as partly employed and wanting more work," again estimates

55th Wedding Day Observed

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Diehl Hosts To Friends At Residence In Oakland Recently

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Diehl, formerly of Pilot Hill, this county, will join us in renewed good wishes to the couple, who celebrated their fifty-fifth wedding day at their residence at Oakland on January 15.

We learn that the occasion was marked by a family gathering, with a few very intimate friends joining in, at which a delicious buffet luncheon was served. The honored couple are both blessed with fairly good health and were the genial host and hostess for those present, even as they were host and hostess when they operated the hotel at Pilot Hill a number of years ago.

Mr. Diehl served as a member of the Board of Supervisors from the fourth district at one time.

Following the luncheon, their daughter, Mrs. Ray Thomson, entertained with several piano numbers and selections by this accomplished pianist and an afternoon of visiting concluded a happy occasion and one to be long remembered.

As guests took their departure, all joined in wishes for many happy returns of the day for Mr. and Mrs. Diehl.

Their family includes three daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Martin and two sons, of Alameda; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Conelly and six children, of Piedmont; and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Thomson, with whom they make their home.

FIREMEN OPEN SALE OF TICKETS TO DANCE FEBRUARY 12

Placerville Volunteer Fire Department has opened the sale of tickets to its annual dance, to be held February 12 at the I. O. O. F. Hall.

As is generally known, the funds raised by the annual dance go to the repair and replacement of clothing of firemen which is damaged or destroyed while fighting fires, and to make possible a series of social functions which creates a brighter side of life in the fire department.

In notices mailed this week to property owners, the department invites orders for tickets to the dance. Tickets may be obtained by using the stamped and addressed envelope which is inclosed, or by contacting officers of the department personally.

Placerville has always generously shown its appreciation of the work done by its firemen and there is no reason why this year should be any exception to the rule.

OWNERS BEING NOTIFIED OF FIRE PATROL LIENS

District Attorney Henry S. Lyon has been requested by State Forester M. B. Pratt to foreclose all liens filed with the County Recorder on December 7th, 1937, by the Department of Natural Resources of the State of California, Division of Forestry.

These liens were filed against all property whose owners had failed to pay the fire protection costs assessed against their lands at the rate of two cents per acre.

Pursuant to the law, the district attorney is required to foreclose these liens, which entails a great deal of work and time and which is being done without any remuneration to either the district attorney's office or the County of El Dorado.

Mr. Lyon has this week mailed to each of the property owners concerned a letter, explaining the situation, and giving each owner an opportunity to pay the amount due, thereby avoiding further costs and trouble to each one.

If there is any question, which any of the proporty owners desire to discuss, they may call at the district attorney's office.

Broader Service Chamber's Aim

Directors Consider Matter Of Use Of County Materials In Public Construction

At an especially called meeting of the directors of the County Charmer of Commerce on Wednesday evening at the Ivy Hotel, President Reuel V. Whigam outlined to the directors and obtained their approval of a plan which it is believed will broaden the service of the Chamber of Commerce in the county.

Details of the proposal, which it is understood will be submitted to the membership before it is introduced, are not available. It is recalled, however, that at the recent annual meeting at which Mr. Whigam took over the duties of president, he stated it as his intention that the Chamber of Commerce should, in fact as well as in name, be representative of the entire county.

It is presumed that the innovations suggested by the president and approved by the directors are in the development of this position, but it is said details of the plan are yet to be perfected.

Among other matters considered by the directors was one calling attention to the propriety of having El Dorado County products used on public construction in the county.

4-H FORESTRY CLUB AT CAMINO ORGANIZES FOR YEAR

The club will meet regularly henceforth on the second Saturday of each month at 2 o'clock for field work, and on the fourth Wednesday of each month at 6:30 o'clock.

THE RED BALL IS UP

Sewing

Feminine fingers have always delighted in creative work, not too strenuous nor difficult, but enough to take one's mind off herself and make a soothing, pleasing occupation. Such are weaving, crochetting, knitting, embroidery, tatting, lace-making, quilting and sewing.

Now that we no longer knit for the soldiers and the rage for knitting dresses has somewhat cooled, we are turning to a sew-your-own hobby. Women are buying perfectly good percale, cutting it up into a thousand pieces, and making quilts to hand down to their children and grandchildren. Stores are selling more dress materials by the yard, and many are offering help with patterns.

There is no mystery about sewing. Painstaking work at it is the secret of excellent results. First you must buy a high-grade pattern. Study its directions carefully and be sure you understand them before you cut into the goods. Follow directions exactly; as to cutting, notching the pieces, pinning them together and basting. The beginner will usually require help with the fitting, but that, too, can soon be learned. Then comes the stitching and the finishing.

To do good work, one must be determined to rip out, once, twice, or more if necessary, and make right any defective part. Almost right is never satisfactory. Haste and carelessness lead to disappointment. You can do the job well, if you will.

To have a dressmaker come to the house and help you with your sewing is a good way to learn. Another method is to make anew or make over, to a dressmaker to cut and fit for you, then you carry them home and do the rest, returning to her for advice or help if you need it.

A dress which you make usually costs but half the price of the ready-made garment, and one can save indefinitely by making over discarded dresses of good materials.

Cooking Meat

A little lemon juice added to a piece of tough meat, when it begins to boil, will make it tender and add to its flavor. Meat should not be salted until nearly done as salt draws out the juices. When roasting or frying meat, sear it first to keep the juices in. The flame should be hot during this process and the meat turned until browned on all sides. A little hot water is then added, the skillet tightly covered to keep in the steam and the meat allowed to simmer until tender. Vegetables add to the flavor of meats with which they are cooked. Cooking them at the same time saves fuel and makes the meat go further by flavoring a bulky food which may be eaten with it.

Housewifery

If you have an odd salt shaker, fill it with sugar mixed with cinnamon and use it to make cinnamon toast at the table. Simply sprinkle the mixture over hot, buttered toast.

To keep biscuits from sticking to the pan when baking, sprinkle the pan with corn meal before you lay the biscuit dough in it. To place a dish of water in the oven while they are baking will make biscuits more crusty. Biscuit dough may be fried in hot fat, as doughnuts are, and so furnish a variety of bread stuff, as well as a quicker method of cooking.

If old cake is left in your cupboard, reheat it in the oven and serve it to the family, with pudding sauce, as a dessert.

If a person is sleepless, a warm drink will often draw the blood from his head and have a quieting effect. This is especially true of warm milk.

The Lamp Shade

The best lamp shade is open at the top to permit light to escape upward and help illuminate the room. It is wasteful to have the top covered. It should flare at the base enough to allow light to be diffused in that direction and be deep enough to cover the bulb.

If several lights are in a room, the shades should harmonize, though they need not be alike. A shade which is too large for the size of the room seems to dwarf the room. It should not be too large for the base of the lamp nor for the table on which it stands. Too small a shade looks insignificant.

Dark colors absorb the light while light colors reflect it. Brown, black or blue should be used only for trimming. Yellow is the ideal color since it simulates sunshine.

The best shade is simple, sincere and unobstrusive. It should not pretend to be anything which it is not, as a lady with a light beneath her skirt, an elephant with his insides aglow, a ship nor a basket of fruit. It is appropriate that it should look like the shade for an oil lamp or a candle; or geometrical designs are good. The shade should not be over-decorated with lace, fringe, painted scenes or other ornaments.

Silk, parchment or frosted glass are desirable materials and there is a new, very pretty one of marble cut so thin that the light penetrates it softly and shows the interesting veining in the marble.

Escalloped Cabbage

Shred a cabbage and boil it five minutes in salted water. Drain off the water and place it in a baking dish in alternate layers with well seasoned tomatoes. Sprinkle each layer with grated cheese and breadcrumbs. Dot the top with butter and bake for a half hour.

Corn and tomatoes, carrots and turnips, carrots and onions, or cauliflower and tomatoes may be similarly escalloped.

Sausage-Apple Escallop

In a greased baking pan, place a layer of two cups of cracker or bread crumbs. On top of this spread a layer of sausage. Cover with a layer of sliced, tart apples and bake for a half hour, covered, then brown and serve.

Indoor Temperatures

Overheated rooms lower one's vitality and make for mental dullness. Vigorous, outdoor people become accustomed to breathing cold air and having it on their skins. They feel enervated when they stay long in too warm a room. The proper temperature for living rooms is about seventy degrees Fahrenheit. Many inactive, aged or invalid persons keep their rooms at eighty or eighty-five, thus lowering their reisistance to disease.

A certain amount of humidity is desirable in a room, as well as circulation of the air. It is well to have fresh air coming in from outside and to make some provision for steam or moisture in the room.

A new process of brick-making yields a brick of soft, rich coloring which is very attractive. One may now build a house which will be enduring, warm in winter and cool in summer, and yet be in a pleasing color tone as if mellowed by age and weather, but not grown dingy.

Missouri Rail Fences Nearly Extinct

SALEM, Mo., (U.P.) — Another decade will see the passing of characteristic Ozark landmark — the rail fence, farmers in south Missouri believe.

Barbed-wire fences and a scarcity of oak timber are held responsible for the failure of Ozark farmers to construct and repair picturesque rail fences.

Household Diary

A diary is a convenience in checking up on household operations. Tack a pad to the cupboard door and tie a pencil near. Jot down here when last you put salt in the water softener, what date Jane last visited the dentist, the time your milk man missed you, and other bits of useful information.

Mrs. Solomon Says:

Do not accept a dull or monotonous life without a great effort to find—or make—some jollity. Dump the doldrums and chuck in a chuckle.

Three hundred miners were marooned in shafts along the Cogebic range in Michigan.

Airline officials reported that good visibility in the middle west will make possible scheduled operation of their ships.

The storm was expected to hit the Atlantic seaboard and bring an end to comparatively "warm weather."

In the southern states and at Lakeland, Fla., temperatures were near the freezing point as far south as central Florida. Snow fell at Ocala, Fla., yesterday.

It was feared, too, that the storm would cause heavy damage to the midwest's wheat crop.

The cold wave struck Mexico and the thermometer in some sections had dropped nearly 15 degrees below the freezing mark.

Lower temperatures were predicted for the western portions of South Dakota, Nebraska, and Kansas.

Representative temperatures: Duluth, Ill., -2; Moorhead, Mill., -2; Bemidju, Minn., -10; Yuma, Ariz. 72; San Diego, Calif., 76; Miami, Fla., 60; Eastport, Me., 40; Chicago 10; Detroit, 10; Kansas City, 15; New York City, 16.

Man Who Wed Victim's Wife, Freed Of Murder

ST. GEORGE, Ut. (UP)—Charles Bosshardt, who killed his neighbor and hid the body, then married the dead man's widow out of remorse, went home today exonerated. And with him went his wife—the dead man's widow—sobbing with joy.

It took a jury six hours last night to make a decision in this drama of the sheep ranch country, and bring it to a happy conclusion for three of the persons involved. The charge was murder; the verdict "not guilty."

The killing occurred during a fight.

424 UNEMPLOYED IN COUNTY

the state population as of July 1, last, at 6,154,000 and finds a total of 136,576 or 2.2 per cent in this class.

Although the first two tables used the 1937 population estimate, Table 3, "Persons who registered in the unemployment census, by class, for counties and cities" used the 1930 census figure and credits California with 5,677,251 population instead of the larger figure. This table has a city and county break-down.

El Dorado County, the table shows, has a population of 8,325 (1930 census). There are 424 totally unemployed and wanting work of whom 358 are men and 66 women.

Working on WPA or other emergency work are a total of 84 of whom 79 are men and 5 are women.

Partly employed and wanting more work are 254 of whom 243 are men and 11 are women.

It is interesting to check the above figures against a report issued Wednesday of this week by Alfton Sutton, manager of the El Dorado County office of the California Employment Service, on the second floor of the postoffice building.

Mr. Sutton Wednesday afternoon reported there are listed with his office a total of 782 persons unemployed and wanting jobs. This figure includes 745 men and 57 women.

Mr. Sutton estimated that the number of those employed part of the time and seeking more work who are enrolled in his office will not exceed 35.

By adding the federal unemployment figures for the county, the 424 who are listed as unemployed and the 254 who are listed as part-time employed and the 254 who are listed as part-time employed, a total of 678 is obtained.

While this might be compared with the 782 total announced by the California Employment Service, it is pointed out by the service that a number of the industrial concerns of the county kept their men at work until mid-December, and that they therefore would not have been included in the national unemployment census figures.

In a further study of the two reports, it is interesting to note, too, that while the state Employment Service segregates its total of 782 unemployed in the county as including 745 men and 37 women, the federal of 678 mentioned two paragraphs above, breaks down to 77 women and 601 men.

What influences, other than an increase in unemployment in the county since the time of taking the federal survey, may be declared to be responsible for the difference in the figures, is a question.

PARADE OF SPORTS

By HENRY McLEMORE
United Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, (UP)—War Admiral is a noble steed. In fact, he is a great horse and a sterling representative of the four-legged equine department. His breeding is the equal of anything that ever had oats for a second course, and he undoubtedly would be the first to offer a fetlock to an aged filly crossing the street.

But he isn't the fastest horse in the United States.

From furlong pole to furlong pole he can't pick up the weight and tote it along with—

Seabiscuit.

That's heresy in the east, and all along the Atlantic seaboard where the sable-coated little son of Man O' War has brought his silks down winging.

But don't brand me as a heretic. Don't burn me at the stake. Don't disfigure my forehead with the scarlet letter.

Because I'm only quoting.

I'm only quoting Charley Howard, the quiet San Francisco business man who owns Seabiscuit.

Charlie Howard loves Seabiscuit. Loved him ever since that day he saw him at Saratoga, in the stables of the late Ogden Mills. Seabiscuit wasn't much to look at then. He still showed the effects of 35 races as a two-year-old. He was discarded, in fact, and Howard picked him up for $7,500. Mills looked on Howard's check as a gift.

A year later, when Seabiscuit was top stake horse in the country, Howard went back to Mills seeking more horses.

He didn't get to first base.

Mills said: "Keep your check book in your pocket, Charley, because after what you've done with the Biscuit I wouldn't sell you a goat for four dollars. Even if the goat lacked antlers and had a bad knee."

Howard told me all these things sitting in his box at the finish line at Santa Anita. It was hard to talk to him, because he was besieged with persons seeking information. Bing Crosby came by. Randolph Scott came by. Pat O'Brien wanted something in the third. So did Victor McLaglen. So did a hundred others.

"I've always wanted a shot at War Admiral," Howard told me. "We were all ready to race at Pimlico last November, when Al Vanderbilt guaranteed us a fine purse for a match race.

But Mr. Riddle didn't see fit to send his horse against us. Then I figured we would have to wait until the Santa Anita handicap. I couldn't see how any man who thought he had the best horse in the country could refuse to run him for a purse of $100,000.

"But War Admiral isn't here. He is going to run in Florida for half the money that is offered here. That's his business. But I can't help but feel that if a horse is the greatest horse—and I have heard that War Admiral is—he should go for the biggest money in the biggest race."

What Mr. Howard tried to say is this; nobody is scaring Seabiscuit from the big races. As a great he wants to be where the action is hottest. If he isn't good enough to win—well, Mr. Howard wants to take a look at the bab who can lick him.

Confidentially, he doesn't think there is anything on four legs that can take the Biscuit from seven furlongs to a mile and a quarter. He'll shoot his roll too.

JAPS TIGHTEN GRIP ON SHANGHAI CABLES; DEMAND CODE BOOKS

SHANGHAI, (UP)—All commercial firms in Shanghai, regardless of their nationality, must provide the Japanese censor with copies of their code books, the Japanese embassy announced today.

The order applied to American as well as to all other firms.

The embassy spokesman said that the censors had to have the code books by tomorrow if they are to permit the transmission of coded messages. The purpose of the order, he said, was to control military information. The penalty for violation, he said, would be the suspension of the right to send messages.

The firms also will be required to provide, with each coded message, a certification from the consul of its nation that the message is bonafide.

The order was expected to cause the firms considerable difficulty. Most of them have only one copy of their code books, and because of the length of some of them, it was almost impossible to make a copy overnight.
